

Peninsula Hotel

Hotel Peninsula was originally a stone edifice, built in the 19th century as a private home. In September 2002, it was rebuilt in its original Ottoman style. It offers Turkish hospitality for guests from all over the world. The hotel is centrally located in the old city, only a few minutes walk from The Blue Mosque, St. Sophia, Topkapi Place, The Hippodrome and the other tourist attractions. There is easy access to the hotel from Istanbul international airport (18 km. away), the main railway station (3 km.), and the urban tram (2 blocks). Along with the treasures of the past and the charm of an old Ottoman house, Hotel Peninsula also features the vital amenities of the modern world.
